Message Hello again

I do however owe a few people some cash from going out of business. For the last month or so - I have been preparing to sell my Z in order to fund these refunds. It is now in classifieds. And yes - it is still broke.

Many of you assumed I had run off with small (relative to other business demises here) amount of money and was enjoying the car. NOPE. She has been sitting the garage now for a few years - and not driven much in the last year at all. Something strange happens in this country to like 75% of ALL small businesses - they go OUT of business due to cash flow. Told you all - this - but let the conspiracy theories run I guess. I don't really care. WHY STEAMYZ WHY? HOW? I could tell ya - but you won't believe me so who cares.

So anyway - the car - lucky for ME - I lost interest in her. Lucky for those I owe I have been planning this for a year now and finally I will be able to put the loss of ZTOYZ behind me.

There has been one harassing X customer - that unless he changes his tune will NOT be getting his refund. I mean - I think I contacted him first - out of the blue. Everyone else I have contacted has been VERY VERY appreciative....and I appreciate that. If someone owed me money - I certainly would be mad - but I would wait until after I got it back to say and do the things this person has done LOL. But eh - that's me. So when he comes here complaining - I don't want it to be a surprise.

What is the point of this post - dunno. I guess I would like to say fuck you to all you haters out there and thank you to all the good people I met here over the years. After all - it has been years. I was going to type this long ranting cussing spitting post to some folks here that seem to have more invested in rubbing my nose in shit - but what's the point.

Hopefully - the car will sell soon and people will get some money back and all will be well in the world.

Till then - good bye

Flame away - i wont be reading it anyway!
